

New York Theatre Ballet's Dance On A Shoestring – 31st Anniversary Season Repertory Highlights

New York – The second performance of New York Theatre Ballet's Dance On A Shoestring series will take place on Friday and Saturday, February 5 & 6 at 7 pm at The Dance Gallery, 30 East 31st Street, 5th Floor, NYC. Hailed as “a miniature American treasure” by Dance Magazine, NYTB will highlight excerpts from the company's repertory. Choreography by Andrea Miller, Rachael Kosch and Marco Pelle will be featured. Back by popular demand is an excerpt from “Blush” by Andrea Miller, co-director of Gallim Dance. “Blush” had its premiere at Jacob's Pillow this past summer.

Three Virgins and A Devil, set to music by Ottorino Respighi was choreographed by Agnes de Mille, and had its first performance in 1941. Based on a story of Boccaccio the ballet is the comic tale of three young virgins on their way to join a nunnery when they are confronted by a devil who uses each of their weakness to entice them into Hell, the mouth of which is a cave. The music will be performed live by NYTB music director Mariko Miyazaki.

The intimate Dance Gallery offers a unique performance experience where the audience not only sees the dance, but can observe behind-the-scenes elements of an informal theatrical experience. Children from Ballet School NY will also be featured on the program.

Tickets are $15. The program runs approximately one hour. Advance reservations guarantee a seat. Seating is extremely limited. For reservations and information, call 212-679-0401, or visit www.nytb.org.
